

Devin Tucker

Director of Outreach and Engagement

Devin Tucker began her career in mediation and negotiation after receiving a degree in International Business from the University of Southern California in 2015. After working at a big litigation firm, she quickly realized she wanted to resolve disputes, not litigate them. She began her mediation training at Pepperdine Law, receiving a degree in dispute resolution. Upon graduation she worked with one of the pioneers of the field, Jeffrey Krivis and his partner, Mariam Zadeh who became mentors for her. She learned the business of mediation while also learning to convene and facilitate matters into mediation. In 2021, she became the Program Administrator for the Mediation Center of Los Angeles where she currently oversees the vendor relationship program with Los Angeles Superior Court. While she continues to be a liaison and figure in the community for access to fair and quality resolution, Ms. Tucker continues to work with neutrals and clients to help them resolve efficiently and successfully. In addition to her attributes as a businesswoman, Ms. Tucker also serves as a mediator handling employment, habitability, collaborative divorce, and entertainment matters. She has mediated over 100 cases ranging from discrimination, FEHA, PAGA, divorce, child custody and contractual issues. Her goal is to further the rise of alternate dispute resolution in hopes of making it the dominant way in which people resolve issues. She served as Director of Operations at the law firm of Boren, Osher & Luftman, LLP, and handled sales and distribution at Def Jam Records in New York. In August 2023, she was promoted to the Program Director for the Mediation Center of Los Angeles.
